I Believe

The term creed comes from the word credo, which means “I believe.” The creed is a summary of God revealing Himself in Scripture. We begin with “I believe” because in our human freedom we cannot speak for another, but only for ourselves. We profess this. In the Baptismal creed what we are doing in the creed is clear. We are turning toward God who reveals Himself in Jesus, and are turning away from things that are a perversion of His goodness. This turning towards the Lord is our response to His grace and invitation to share in His love. Sometimes it is more difficult for us if our lives are entrenched in areas of sin—areas that are in need of freedom or healing. When we find ourselves there, we want to continue to wrestle and invite the Lord into the area. We can pray with great hope that His light can, little by little, transform any darkness in our lives into His life. Sacraments, prayer, living our vocations and loving our neighbors are all ways we can remain in the light of Christ.

Let us thank the Lord for this gift of
His love, and respond to the grace
He gives us to receive it.
